The return on your investment in the OLC...

Supporting you and your library.

Your membership supports the OLC's very aggressive and productive efforts in the state legislature, the Governor's office and in other areas of state government to assure that Ohio's public library systems are well-funded and maintain their national standing as the very best.

Growing your career and skills.

Your membership provides access to countless professional development opportunities to keep up with the ever-changing world of information science and maintain the standard of excellence that Ohioans have come to expect from their public libraries.

Keeping you informed.

OLC's electronic communications highlight your association's response to challenges you face everyday and the latest developments in libraries and information science in Ohio and around the country. The OLC website provides the latest news and information affecting your library as well as a place to access information specific to your special interest area in library service.

Opportunities for involvement and networking.

You can network with your peers and develop your leadership and facilitation skills by getting involved in chapters, committees, divisions and task forces. You can be an active participant in planning professional development, mentoring, producing newsletters, researching trends and providing examples of best practices to assist your colleagues throughout the state.

Access to services for you and your career.

OLC members can take advantage of numerous personal and professional benefits. These benefits include career resources such as Jobline, which provides a listing of career opportunities in library service available in Ohio and the country, and assistance from OLC staff members on issues impacting your library and your career.
